Basic River Rescue Class '09

August 15-16, 2009 on the Hiwassee River

The TSRA Basic River Rescue Class will be held on the Hiwassee River. We will be staying at the Bunkhouse at Hiwassee Outfitters. If you want to build your confidence, be an asset to your paddling group, or remain calm during those OBE's ("out of boat experiences"), then this is the class for you. This event is informative, empowering and FUN. This is not the Swift Water Rescue Class. It could be a great warm-up for someone wishing to attend SWR. It would also be great for folks wanting to brush up on what they learned at SWR.

There are only 30 spots available in the Bunkhouse at Hiwassee Outfitters. First come, first served. There are camping sites available, but you will need your own camping gear. You must also provide your own boating and equipment and transportation to and from the Hiwassee Outfitters Bunkhouse.

Your fee of $45 will cover the actual expenses of the event, including two nights in the bunkhouse, ACA insurance, chili, and a T-shirt. This event is considered a service to our members and the paddling community. TSRA is not making money on this class. If you have a good time and learn valuable skills, then consider making a donation to the TSRA. When you register, you will be emailed a packet containing a map, a suggested equipment list, equipment rental locations and other information.

Deadline for registration is August 1. After August 1, registrants will be charged an additional $20 and admitted only if there are instructors available.
