Bulldogs cannot win the close games

Cumberland is currently on a five-game losing streak and has dropped eight of its last nine outings, doing so in close fashion in almost every instance. The Bulldogs have lost by six points or less five times since December 30 and none of the other three defeats have come by more than 11 points. The average margin of the eight losses has been just 6.6 points (a grand total of 53 points), with five of the defeats against ranked foes, including to the Univ. of the Cumberlands (67-65), Freed-Hardeman (59-53), Trevecca Nazarene (61-50), Bethel Univ. (70-65), and Union Univ. (69-63).

Bulldogs put a premium on defense

Cumberland currently leads the TranSouth Conference and ranks fifth nationally in scoring defense, allowing just 53.35 points per game. The Bulldogs have allowed 60 points or less in 12 of the team's 17 contests this season, including three of the seven TSAC outings. The Bulldogs are 6-6 in those 12 outings. No team has scored more than 70 points in any game this season, with Bethel Univ. defeating the Bulldogs, 70-65, and Union Univ. winning 69-63. Compare that with last year's club that allowed 70 points or more 16 times and gave up 100 on three separate occasions. CU ranks second in the TranSouth in field goal percentage defense at .362 and 3-point field goal percentage defense at .270, third in blocks per game with 3.53 and fifth in steals with 9.71. So why have the Bulldogs struggled to win games? Several reasons, starting with ranking next-to-last in the TSAC in scoring offense at 61.82 per contest as well as ranking seventh in field goal percentage at .401. CU is also dead even in rebounding margin with its opponents, ranks last in the league in assists and is seventh in assist-to-turnover ratio at 0.50.

Bailey keeps up consistency

Junior Allysia Bailey started the season sporadically for the Bulldogs but her play has leveled off over the last nine games, with the Knoxville, Tenn., native averaging 10.3 points per game during the stretch with seven double figure scoring contests. She started the first six games of the season but then came off the bench for the next six outings before returning to the starting lineup four games ago. She has provided much-needed scoring punch at times for the Bulldogs and has really picked up her rebounding over the last three games, averaging 5.7 per outing and 4.4 boards per game over the last five contests.

Lyon owns three-game winning streak

Lyon College has won the last three meetings against Cumberland, including a 60-50 decision in Batesville this season on January 7. Overall the teams have won eight games apiece since Cumberland rejoined the TranSouth, but under current Lyon head coach Tracy Stewart-Lange, the Pipers are 5-4 against CU. The last three Lyon victories have come by a grand total of 20 points, with six- and four-point wins for the Pipers last year. Lyon has won four of the last five meetings overall dating to the 2008 campaign. The eight-year series has been hotly-contested, with 12 of the 16 games decided by 13 points or less. The average margin of victory in those 12 games is just 8.0 points. Cumberland is just 4-8 in those outings.

Landers out indefinitely

Freshman guard Kristi Landers started the first six games of the season but has been sidelined since December 2 with plantar fasciitis. She was scheduled to return in four weeks, which would have been in time for the conference slate, but the Briarcrest Christian HS product has still not been able to practice and her return this season is up in the air. If she is able to play again, it would be in late February at the earliest.

Bulldogs ink Seymour's Cowan

Seymour was ranked seventh in east Tennessee in the preseason as well. Cowan averaged 11 points and three assists per game as a junior. The Lady Eagles won Region 2-AA last season and made the state sectionals. She is the daughter of Christy West and Rod Cowan and is also a 2008 Junior Rodeo Champion in Breakaway Roping.

Cumberland picked fifth in preseason

The Cumberland women's basketball program was picked seventh in a vote of league coaches released during the TranSouth Conference Media Day in Jackson, Tenn.
