

CABANA is Nashville's introduction to "Casual Southern Comfort Cuisine"™. The elegantly casual fare is offered in an atmosphere suited with varying seating styles from booths and couches to private or semi-private cabanas. These cabanas are adorned with pillows, plush fabrics, flat screen televisions and speakers. Diners can watch a DVD, play video trivia or poker, choose from over 200 channels of satellite programming or plug in their I-Pods. CABANA also offers wireless broadband internet access. CABANA provides patio seating as well as a covered open-air setting, enclosed on two sides by large garage-style glass doors. CABANA is a casual spot in Hillsboro Village, nestled between Vanderbilt and Belmont Universities and Music Row, where one will enjoy reasonably priced yet contemporary Southern foods, spirits, wines and beers in an atmosphere of casual comfort and sophistication.

My partners Craig, Chef Brian and I want to invite you to join us in enjoying our new labor of love - CABANA. Together, we have created what we believe is a unique restaurant with a distinctive menu and a fun/casual atmosphere. When we began developing the concept for CABANA, our united vision was to create a casual bar and restaurant with upscale food at a very reasonable price. Internationally acclaimed Brian Uhl, executive chef at Midtown Cafe, Sunset Grill and now CABANA, uses local vendors, local farmers and the freshest Tennessee ingredients to offer diners a diverse menu with a distinctly local flavor. We sincerely hope you enjoy our "Casual Southern Comfort Cuisine"™ .
