

THE GOLF CLUB OF TENNESSEE

Domestic: 8 people | 1 night 2 days

Eight golfers can enjoy playing one of the country's finest courses without traveling far from home. The Golf Club of Tennessee in nearby Kingston Springs provides dedicated golfers with an excellent course and quality facilities superbly staffed so you can enjoy golf the way it was meant to be played—without tee times, delays, or distractions. This golfing excursion includes two days of golf and an overnight stay in the Golf Club's Clubhouses suites. There are four bedrooms with two queen beds in each room and a private bath. You and your party will also be treated to a private dinner prepared by Chef Arnita as a special reward following your first day of golf. Widely-acclaimed as today's best golf course architect, Tom Fazio fashioned this golfing masterpiece on 317 acres of Tennessee's most beautiful rolling land in a wonderfully quiet, pastoral setting that is isolated from the busy world and enhanced by the singing of birds, the cascading of waterfalls, and the occasional crossing of a fox or deer. Featuring zoysia tees and fairways and bent grass greens, the 7,144-yard, par-71 course sprawls over nearly twice the acreage of a traditional 18-hole course. Fazio used all of the elements of design excellence with holes that are both strategic and subtly difficult, yet player friendly and memorable but not contrived.
